

Still This Year

The final explanation of the action of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will be published in THE COLONNADE next week. At this time we can only say that 10 schools have been dropped by the association including GSCW.

During the past few months our student body cooperated with the other colleges of the state in an attempt to right the unjust wrong which we, the students, will suffer. We realized that steps worthy of criticism had been taken by the ruling body of the University System, but we had hoped to receive leniency from the accrediting group.

The action of the association will go into effect in the fall of 1942 which means that due credit will be received for this year's work.

Our school may lose many of its students next fall. It is hoped that they will not transfer before June. We still have this year to make a success. The future looks dark for our Alma Mater. Let's make 1941-42 the best of the 51 years. It is a turning point for the college, but may we have this year to remember as the best ever.

Reserve Books

The reserve room of the library is filled with books that must be used by a large group of students. The books are put on reserve due to the fact that few students would have access to them if they were checked out of the library.

These books serve the purpose of textbooks for many courses. They must be used during the whole year and the number bought in the fall is considered sufficient for all three quarters. In the past several of the books have been found missing. The library had not felt that a large enough number were lost to mention. This quarter, an unusually large number of the books are missing.

If one book is taken from the room, another girl may be kept from reading assignments that day. Everyone is given equal opportunity to study in the room. The social science and health courses require reference reading nearly every day. If the references are too much to read at one time, the student should return to the library later.

The library has, of course, no means of finding the missing books this fall. They are needed by the other students before examinations and will be needed next quarter. If any student has a book belonging to the reserve room, it is certainly her responsibility to return it immediately.

Could Sign Help?

DO NOT DISTURB, were the words written on signs hung on dormitory doors last year. These signs were intended to be used by students when they wished to study in their own rooms without interruption. The signs were a good idea, but they were ignored.

During the discussions on scholarship held about the campus recently, the fact was brought forward that there were few places on the campus to study. It was said that the dormitory rooms were gathering places for several students but could not be used for study.

The freshmen have study halls at night and the upper classmen decide on their own behavior as to study halls or not. Most of the dormitories are supposed to observe quiet periods between 8 and 10:30 p.m. This does not insure a student though that she will not be interrupted several times during the evening. The library is open for study during the day, but that is the only place where one can concentrate.

It is believed by many students that if the DO NOT DISTURB signs were used again this year, the scholarship of the campus would improve. That does not mean that the signs could be hung outside the door all the time; it means they would be used only when actual solitude is wanted. If the signs are used again, it should be a dormitory offense to disregard them. They should be observed in the strictest manner.

We're in the Army Now

Company 4
62nd Infantry,
Camp Forest, Tenn.

Dear Sirs:

I am very enthusiastic about army camp life. We live around in bed every morning until five o'clock. This, of course, gives us plenty of time to get washed, shaved, dressed, make our bunks, etc., by 5:10. By 5:15 we stand outside and shiver awhile until someone blows the bugle. After we are reasonably chilled, we grope our way through the darkness to the mess hall. Here we have plenty of breakfast consisting of an unidentified liquid and a choice of white rye crusts.

After gorging ourselves with this delicious repast, we waddle our way back to the barracks. We have nothing to do until 7:30, so we just sit around and mop floors, wash windows, and pick up all the cigarette butts and match sticks within a radius of 150 feet of our barracks.

Soon the sergeant comes in and says, "Come out in the sunshine, Kids," so we go out and bask in the wonderful sunlight. Of course we stand six inches in mud. To limer up, we do a few simple calisthenics, like touching your toes with both feet on the

Gadabout

By BLANCHE LAYTON

Well, here we are back at the old grind again! One more Thanksgiving is over (wish there were about two more before Christmas), and what do we have to look forward to now? Personally, I think it's those little quizzes that everyone loves, but somebody said it was Christmas plus the event of Santa's coming.

Another hit of the season! "Hedda Gabler" directed by Mr. Leuecker starring Blanche Muldrow was up to the standards of all College Theatre production. Or maybe I should say it was past the standard, for every time they seem to get better.

Why did Lucy Davis get so embarrassed over the holidays when little Carnes walked in right after she had so violently declared she never dated?

The DAR Citizenship club met yesterday afternoon in Ennis Rec hall. They brought articles for a Christmas box.

The seniors are busy on their White Christmas program. Nelle Bond is in charge of the whole program this year.

The girls to know these days are the dietetics majors. They're making fruit cakes this week. And I'm sure no one girl can eat a twelve-pound fruit cake all by herself.

The education 342 class went right ahead with their own class in the absence of Dr. Little this week. Are teachers really necessary?

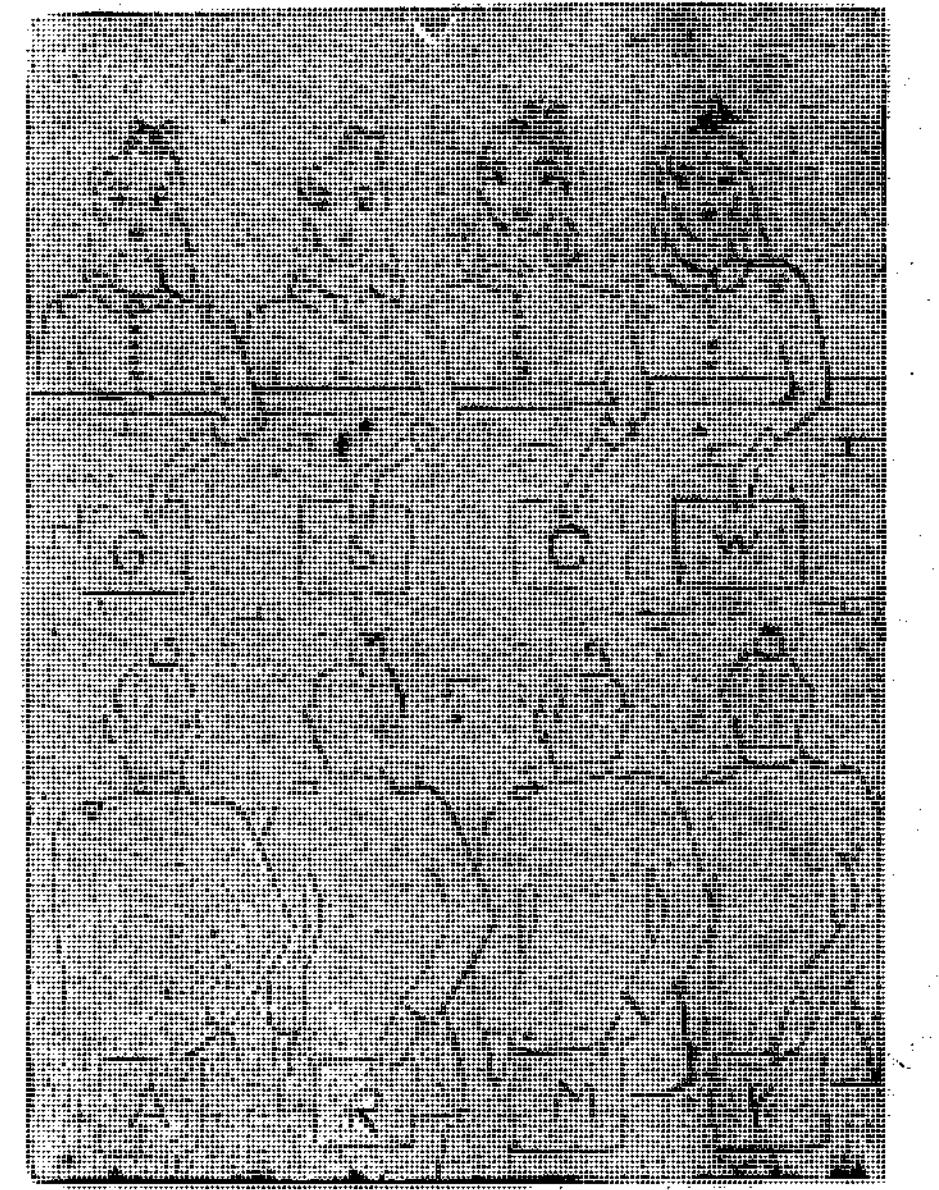

The Alpha Psi Omega members gave a supper to the "Hedda Gabler" cast on Thursday evening.

We are tremendously interested in the Russian campaign, because as long as Russia fights as she does, there will probably be no Nazi drive through the Middle East. Every Nazi plane the Russians keep busy is a plane which is not being used against the British.

Muldrow Stars in Ibsen Play Presented By College Theatre

By LILYAN MIDDLEBROOKS

Ibsen's victorian play attained new heights last night as Blanche Muldrow left 1500 speechless. The play directed by Leo Luecker was presented in Russell auditorium by the College Theatre.

Never had a College Theatre play, captivated an audience so completely as when Blanche Muldrow portrayed Hedda, the selfish domineering creature, in such a charming manner. She did a professional job with her poised yet daring movements.

What Type Gum Chewer Are You? One of These?

By JEWELL, WILLIE

Every nation, large or small, may be definitely associated in the same habit of eating—or merely going through the motion. In England it's crumpets; in France, black bread, in Germany, pretzels, but in these United States it's gum! Every Letter—

The basic types of mastication are to be seriously considered. The first method involves horizontal motion. This is the type found in school rooms because it is the least noticeable of the mountains. The light pack is not to be confused with the heavy pack. The light pack includes a gun, bayonet, canteen, mess kit, coat, cartridge belt, first aid kit, pup tent, stakes, tent poles, rope and a few other negligible items. The heavy pack has a blanket or two in it. Carrying my pack, I weigh 227 lbs. I weighed 140 lbs. without the pack, so you see how easy and agreeable it is to romp and play in the mountains.

The second involves vertical motion. This type is most frequently found on street cars and at ball games, and is slightly more noticeable than the horizontal method. It often results in benches, etc., breaking out in something closely resembling chicken pox. To master this method simply involves the movement of the jaws up and down with a march-like frequency with a wiggle of the nose and the beat. It is extremely good exercise for the mouth because each movement of the jaws completely displays the tonsils.

The third involves rotary motion. It is generally indulged in only in the most solitary places, but occasionally an excellent example may be found in the darkened recesses of theaters. This method is slightly difficult to perfect because it is necessary for the tongue and jaws to rotate completely within a surprisingly short time.

The fourth, and last, method is a combination of the three preceding methods in Conga rhythm. It is very popular because of the range it offers or individual expression. The jaws go up, around and together. Meanwhile the tongue junctures the gum causing an explosion. The whole process results in something like—up, around, together, POP! POP! up, around, together, POP! This method is spreading on dance floors, in jam sessions, at lectures, in fact, at all public gatherings all over the country.

Chewing gum has not only become a national pastime comparable to the World Series and bowl games, but it has evolved into an American institution. In no other nation on earth is it possible to make a fortune by peddling five cent packages of minute pieces of sweetened bark. Dignity alone is needed to make it a national characteristic. Perfection of these four methods of chewing and elimination of their pathological aspects, such as the strange chicken-pox disease, should add true dignity and refinement to America's smack-time.

A La Mode

By BLANCHE LAYTON

Do you like anything, just anything that is plaid? Plaids of dark, or dull are fine for the fall.

Did you notice Elizabeth Whiddon's good looking plaid suit as she lead the devotional exercises in assembly some few months in the guard house, but they do not have to face court martial. At 12:00 o'clock, those who can, limp to the infirmary. At the infirmary patients are divided into two classes: (1) Those who have got athlete's foot, and (2) those who have colds. If you have athlete's foot, you get a click of the teeth on the off-beat. It is extremely good exercise for the mouth because each movement of the jaws completely displays the tonsils.

Jean Tatton was sporting a light blue and yellow plaid skirt at Cotillion meeting on Wednesday. The yellow was accented by a bright yellow long sleeve sweater.

Beth Nelson enjoyed a coke with a light copper short-sleeved silk shirt.

Toni Marsengill looked very good in a pastel plaid box coat with light blue and yellow dominating.

Catherine Leroy was wearing a light yellow shirt with her red, navy and yellow plaid.

Betty Giles was walking downtown in a plaid skirt of yellow, orange and brown. A yellow cardigan with it looked very stuning.

Marion Ward went to get her hair in a black and red plaid skirt topped with a red long-sleeved jersey blouse.

Oh, there are thousands of them. They are favorites of college girls.

The Sophomore Y club will meet Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Y office. Miss Cynthia Mallory will be the leader. All the club members are urged to be present.

NYA News

By SARAH SARRETTE

At dinner at the Moore house Wednesday night, Mrs. C. B. McCullar and Miss Clara Morris of the home economics department were guests of the girls and Mrs. Oral Taylor.

Edna Riley and Beryl Brown, former home assistants at Moore house have been transferred to other houses so they may get experience to be assistants there after Christmas. Edna Riley has gone to Lasseter hall, and Beryl Brown has gone to Town house.

Marilyn Muse, of Moore House is in the hospital in Atlanta, where she has undergone an operation.

Ask your instructor how to review for the exam he will give. Taking the Examination:

1. Come to the room for the examination in plenty of time to get your seat and get everything in order. You will not do well if you rush in late.

2. When the examination starts, begin work immediately.

3. Look over the entire examination to make sure that you know all that is to be done. Set yourself a tentative time-schedule so that you will get it all done.

4. Be sure that you understand any directions given you. If not sure, ask, or reread them.

5. Be sure that you have pens or pencils and the required paper.

6. Concentrate on your own work and forget everyone else.

7. For objective Tests:

a. Follow directions implicitly.

b. Be sure you understand the question. Many students get answers wrong because they do not read the questions carefully.

c. If you don't know the answer to a question skip it for the time being and come back later if there is time. Answer the ones you are sure of first.

d. If you have no idea at all about the answer to a question it is better to leave it blank. If you have some idea or a 'hunch' take a guess, you will probably be right more often than not.

e. In true-false questions where the words, Always, Never, positively, absolutely occur, the statement is usually false. If words such as, sometimes, usually, generally, occur in the statement, it is generally true.

f. For multiple-choice and matching questions. You can usually arrive at the right answer by a process of elimination.

g. For Subjective Tests:

a. Read the question carefully to determine what is wanted.

b. Think through what your answer will be. If necessary, make an outline to guide your writing.

c. Don't be afraid to develop a topic but be as concise as possible.

d. Give some thought to the form your answers will take. Often an outline form for an answer is better than a narrative.

e. Use correct spelling and grammar.

f. Give each question its share of the time you have.

g. Say what you mean.

Check your answers. Be sure your name is on every sheet.

10. Hand in your paper with a smile.

Our defense program is working with amazing rapidity, endeavoring to get supplies and equipment to the Allies as quickly as possible, but only with civilian cooperation can this really work effectively. We have not yet felt the full force of war economy, but when and if it comes, the American people must courageously conform to the government's plan for consumption, in order that our defense program may operate unhampered.

Our National Office of Production Management has urged retailers and the general public to economize in gift wrapping this Christmas, because the supply of paper will be short. We on this campus can cooperate by using our paper conservatively.

Only in this way can civilian need for paper be adequately met. Some organized method of collecting our waste paper will probably be started, as this can

Elementary Education Club Meets

Miss Mildred English spoke on her recent trip to Chicago, and the National Council of English Teachers held in Atlanta, at the third meeting of the Elementary Education club.

Christmas materials to be used in the elementary grades were exhibited by Grace Sasser, committee chairman. Lunnie Parker, social chairman, served from a table decorated to carry out the Yuletide idea.

The purpose of this club is to aid all those interested in learning about children in the classroom. Club meetings are held the first Monday in every month in Peabody Elementary school at 7:15.

Summer school reviews and a study of flower arrangements have been the past programs. In the future the club plans to hear a report on the National ACE meeting held in Oakland, Calif., this past summer; talks from teachers who visited Mexico during the summer; a meeting about the use of musical instruments for children; a style show; an interview with a superintendent; and a laboratory meeting demonstrating the use of puppets, pictures and pottery.

The officers of the club are: Elizabeth Zeigler, president; Clara Mae West, vice-president; Dot Joiner, secretary; and Rose Ann Chaplin, treasurer.

Miss Mildred English is sponsor for the club.

Nineteen newspapers from 12 Latin-American countries are received regularly by the University of Texas library.

George Haslam Speaks At Joint IRC Meet

Mr. George Haslam of the GSCW faculty spoke at the joint meeting of the GMC and GSCW International Relations club held November 20 at Miss Helen Green's apartment.

Mr. Haslam discussed conditions of censorship in European countries especially the ridiculous regulations existing in France, Russia and England. The club then held an open forum with members taking part.

"Catalogus," by Bishop John Bale, a rare volume published in 1557, has been acquired by Ohio State university's department of English library.

Mrs. Fern Dorris entertained Students from Mayfair entertained faculty members at open afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home on Columbia street. Refreshments were served, after which the group dressed pencils with paper napkins into dolls. These, with fruit collected by the members, will be given to the Negro Nursery school of Millidgeville.

The tradition of homecoming was started at the University of Illinois in May, 1910. The club then held an open forum with members taking part.
